Why Does My Child Need Jump Start Screening?

Early identification and treatment for children who have hearing, vision, and /or communication difficulties increases their success in school. Early identification of hearing loss can prevent speech, language and reading problems that could result from an undetected hearing loss. Early detection of vision and speech impairments can prevent difficulties in many academic areas including spelling, reading and writing. Most children are not screened until Kindergarten, which is often too late for them to benefit fully from treatment.

Please stop the by office with questions!
